Continental Band Box Floor is Scene of Annual H.S. Basketball Game
Leipscic Free Press – January 8, 1920

It is seldom that complaints are made by the local High School athletes regarding treatment received from their opponents regardless of whether they are victorious or defeated, but the recent contest at Continental was cause for unfavorable comment on all sides. Not only was unsportsmanlike conduct displayed by the Continental players, but it seemed to be approved by the school faculty, a thing that would not have happened at the local High School. The players have been taught by both faculty and coach that, regardless of the outcome, all games must be played in true sportsmanlike manner and not with the “win at any cost or way” mode displayed on the Continental floor.

It seems that the Continental officials were not prepared to see their team defeated by clean, fast playing and added their biased support in order to ward off victory for the visitors, as it would have been, had capable and unprejudiced officials handled the game.
